It seems that he unites in himself, physically speaking, the perfection of both races. He possesses the symmetrical form of the white engrafted upon the incomparable frame of the negro, and contains all the elasticity, indifference and cheerfulness of the latter. Although the negro is sometimes very ingenious, he excels him in intelligence. He can subsist with very little and supports with ease the most trying marches. He possesses much of the instability of the negro as well as that great docility and impulsive power so necessary in a soldier. The Mulatto is like the Zouave who, by his gaiety and heroism, instilled spirit and life into the united armies before Sebastopol and so stamped his memory upon the legends of his country. The negro is like the Turco who, by the vigor of his fire, the irresistible energy of his charge, simply decided the fortune of the day at Magenta, The negro and the mulatto possess physical merits which the white often has not: nimbleness and power of endurance in a warm climate. Owing to their excitability, they will throw themselves forward to the cannon s mouth; and in their rage, will even tear their opponents with their teeth, should they have lost their rifle or the arm bearing it; but let them be repulsed, they will fly in disorder and cannot again be rallied except by the reanimating sight of fresh troops. This is caused by the...
